3. About LatiPay Payment Services

- 3.1. We assist businesses outside of China to sell into China, and Chinese businesses to establish and improve their payment solutions.
- 3.2. We are a provider of secure and reliable real-time payment processing services, with solutions for merchants based internationally. Our team includes experienced Chinese linguists, payment executives, compliance professionals, legal counsel and ecommerce experts.

4. LatiPay Payment Gateway

4.1. Application Program Interface (API)

- 4.1.1. Our API LatiPay Payment Gateway enables you to connect your business website to our payment gateway with world-class security, reliability and system features designed to help your business grow sales in China. Our
- 4.1.2. LatiPay Payment Gateway provides the technology and mechanism for online merchants to accept online payments from consumers in China to pay for goods and services over the internet. Pursuant to this PDS, we offer our LatiPay Payment Gateway to Australian merchants.
- 4.1.3. When a Chinese consumer decides to purchase goods or services online, at the payment stage they are redirected from your website to a secure website to input their debit or credit card details to pay for the applicable goods and services. The consumer is returned to your website at the end of the payment transaction.

4.2. Invoicing

- 4.2.1. We make requesting money easy. Send invoices and payment requests online. Create and send invoices and payment requests to your customers via the LatiPay payment gateway. Payment can then be made by your customers in a few simple clicks.
- 4.2.2. We are notified every time a customer uses the QR code we provide you.

4.3. Settlement

- 4.3.1. The LatiPay Payment Gateway will enable your business to accept payments online in Australian dollars and then settle to your bank account in Australian dollars.

5. How does the Latipay Gateway work?

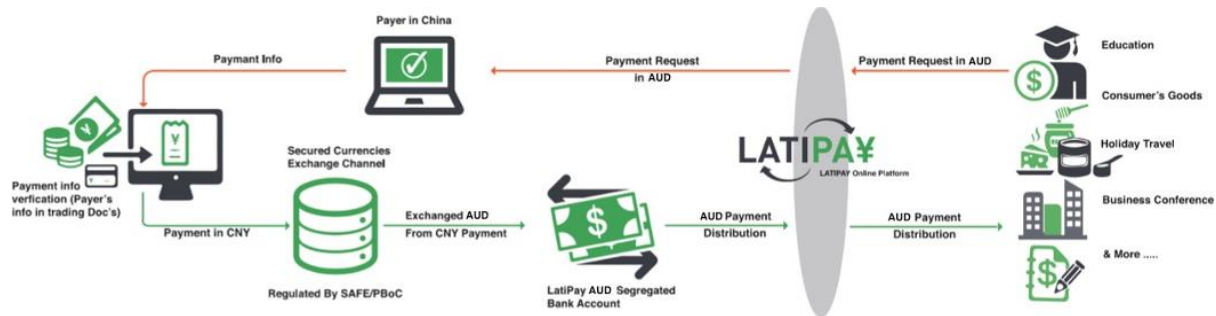

- 5.1. As part of the payment process, we perform identity screening and fraud checks and then pass payment details to our Chinese banking partner, who facilitates authorisation from the consumer's bank.
- 5.2. Our Chinese banking partner settles funds to us for all our merchants and we settle to individual merchants, less our fees. As a merchant you must notify your customers if you are passing on to your customer the cost of any fees incurred by you in relation to your use of the LatiPay Platform. LatiPay will charge you a fee each time you make a withdrawal. The fees charged are those as stated in the "LatiPay Registered Merchant - Schedule of Fees".

5.3. Funds we receive from our Chinese banking partner are held on trust for our merchants prior to distribution to them. Therefore, those funds are protected against any claims by our creditors.

5.4. The following diagram illustrates how our LatiPay Payment Gateway operates:

6. Merchant Agreement

- 6.1. To add our API LatiPay Payment Gateway to your website, you will enter into an Enterprise Merchant Agreement which will form your agreement with us and governs the use of our LatiPay Payment Gateway. The terms and conditions of the Enterprise Merchant Agreement are available online at <https://www.latipay.net/terms-conditions/> and are incorporated into, and form part of, this PDS.
- 6.2. LatiPay does not take any part in the contract for sale and purchase of goods or services between you and your customer. The LatiPay Payment Gateway merely provides a means of communicating orders either from or to you and facilitating payment for the goods or services purchased. LatiPay accepts no responsibility or liability for any issues which may arise between you and your customer.
- 6.3. Before you can establish an e-commerce relationship with our online LatiPay Payment Gateway, you will need to read, accept and agree to be bound by the terms and conditions of the Enterprise Merchant Agreement.
- 6.4. The terms and conditions of the Enterprise Merchant Agreement are available free of charge on request and also are available at <https://parasite.latipay.net/static/pdf/MerchantTermsConditions.pdf>
- 6.5. Amongst other things, the Enterprise Merchant Agreement describes the legal relationship between each merchant and LatiPay Payment Gateway; the fees payable by the merchant and our right to amend these fees; our obligation to settle funds to the merchant's account and right to deduct or withhold amounts from the funds payable to a merchant; the merchant's obligations for delivery of goods and services and dealings with returns and exchanges; certain conduct the merchant is prohibited from undertaking and the circumstances where we can amend the list of prohibited conduct; warranties provided by the merchant and the circumstances where the merchant indemnifies LatiPay Payment Gateway for loss or damage suffered; the term of the Enterprise Merchant Agreement and each party's termination rights; ownership of intellectual property associated with the LatiPay Payment Gateway; confidentiality obligations; and our limitation of liability.

13/05/2020

- 6.6. You should access and read the terms and conditions of the Enterprise Merchant Agreement as they will govern the arrangement that will apply to you as a user of our LatiPay Payment Gateway.

8. Key risks

8.1. Reliance on counterparty

- 8.1.1. We have entered into an agreement with our Chinese banking partner to facilitate the collection of funds from Chinese consumers with debit and credit cards and we are reliant on the continuation of our partnership to facilitate the collection and distribution of payments from Chinese consumers to our merchants.
- 8.1.2. If our arrangement with our Chinese partnership ceases or our Chinese banking partner does not remit funds owing to our merchants to us in a timely fashion or at all, it will adversely impact our ability to remit these funds to our merchants. We are not liable to remit monies paid by Chinese consumers to our merchants where we have not received the funds from our Chinese banking partner.

8.2. Reliance on technology

- 8.2.1. Whilst we have extensive systems in place to ensure reliability, there remains a risk that disruption to computer and/or telecommunications systems may occur from time to time resulting in the temporary unavailability of our LatiPay Payment Gateway. If disruptions occur, merchants may be unable to sell goods and services online to Chinese consumers or there may be delays in payments to a merchant.
- 8.2.2. Under the Merchant Agreement, except as provided by law, we are not liable for any loss a merchant suffers due to any outage or interruption of our LatiPay Payment Gateway.

8.3. Payment reversals and unlawful transactions

- 8.3.1. Whilst we employ an advanced fraud prevention system designed to minimise fraudulent or unauthorised payments by Chinese consumers, merchants may still be exposed to liability where payment by a Chinese consumer is fraudulent or unauthorised (for example, if the credit card/debit card, e-wallet details used by a Chinese consumer were stolen).
- 8.3.2. Also, payments from a consumer to a merchant may be reversed for various reasons such as charge backs, returns, cancellations, refunds and deductions.
- 8.3.3. Where either an unauthorised payment or reversal occurs, we may be obliged to refund moneys received from our Chinese banking partner prior to distribution to the merchant or the merchant may be liable to repay funds received from us.

8.4. Currency Exchange

- 8.4.1. If a merchant chooses to quote the purchase price of goods or services in one currency and elects to have purchase funds settled to their bank account in a different currency, the merchant will be exposed to fluctuations in the exchange rate of those currencies during the period between payment by the Chinese consumer and when LatiPay Payment Gateway remits funds for distribution to the merchant.
- 8.4.2. Currency exchange rate fluctuations may increase or decrease the transaction value for the merchant in their chosen settlement currency compared to the time the purchase was made.

9. Fees and costs

We receive the following fees in connection with our LatiPay Payment Gateway.

9.1. Processing fee

- 9.1.1. We usually receive an agreed fee of up to 2.5% (excluding GST) of the gross transaction volume for a merchant. For example, if your gross transaction volume is $10,000, you will be charged a fee of up to $250 (excluding GST). The fee is deducted prior to transferring funds to the merchant. However, we do not always charge a flat fee of 2.5% (excluding GST). This can be variable.
- 9.1.2. Your fee rate will be outlined in the Enterprise Merchant Agreement. As a merchant you must notify your customers if you are passing on to your customer the cost of any fees incurred by you in relation to your use of the LatiPay Payment Gateway.

9.2. How and when fees are paid

- 9.2.1. The fee is deducted prior to transferring the funds to the merchant.

9.3. Changes to processing fees

13/05/2020

- 9.3.1. Under the terms of the Enterprise Merchant Agreement, we can change the processing fee immediately upon written notice to the merchant. Also, if a payment from a consumer to a merchant is reversed, we are still entitled to our processing fee.

9.4. Interest

- 9.4.1. We are also entitled to all interest earned on funds we receive and hold on our merchant's behalf.
